Check List for students participating in mobility for thesis research abroad

- Before departure, students must fill in the online form on the link that will be provided by the International Mobility Office providing the information requested for the payment of the grant. IMPORTANT: in order to receive the grant students must send an email upon arrival to confirm the date in which they have started the research activity.

- At the end of the mobility, the student has to send from his/her UniTrento email address the following documents to the International Mobility Office (within 15 days from the end of the mobility):
  - a certificate of participation of the hosting institute, confirming the performed activities and the period of stay (see template letter);
  - the letter of the UniTrento supervisor certifying that the period spent abroad for thesis research purposes has been successfully completed (see template letter);

- The participating student should graduate within 6 months after the end of the mobility. The final examination will be taken at the University of Trento (or Bolzano in case of students in Energy Engineering) and the credits will be registered in the student’s career as obtained abroad.

- The scholarship will be paid in a single instalment on the student’s bank account within two months from the beginning of the mobility provided the mobility itself is carried out in the Hosting country. The amounts of the scholarships are subject to taxation and vary according to the country of destination and the ISEE range. See details on https://international.unitn.it/outgoing/opportunities-of-international-mobility-for-thesis-research/final-examination-abroad

- The participant holding a grant for thesis research activity abroad cannot apply for funding through any other international programme for the same type of activity.

- The period of mobility is of 3 months. In case of interruption of the mobility, the remaining grant amount has to be returned.

- The mobility may be extended provided both the Hosting institution and the UniTrento supervisor approve the extension. The grant will however not be increased.

- The candidates should check on the online website of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs (www.viaggiasicuri.it) whether there are any news on risk situations in the destination country.
o The participant must be regularly enrolled at the University of Trento (or unibz in case of students of the MSc in Energy Engineering) for the entire period of the mobility.

o The scholarship is intended to be a contribution to the mobility: students must collect information on the actual life costs in the destination country and on the economical guarantees required in order to obtain the visa.

o Students will be covered by UniTrento with third part liability insurance and accident insurance for activities related to the goal of the mobility. It is a duty of the student to get information regarding the need of a health insurance in the destination country.
